Spotlight to Scale: Building a Million-Dollar Creator Livestream for TikTok Shop's 12.12

One creator. One day. One million dollars. This case challenges teams to identify, diagnose, and scale an emerging TikTok Shop creator to a million-dollar 12.12 livestream — through strategy and operations, not subsidy.

01 TikTok Shop context

TikTok Shop is the e-commerce arm of TikTok, positioning to be a go-to destination for discovering innovative, unique, fashionable, fun, and high quality products from around the world. TikTok Shop has unique strengths in its content and creator ecosystem, delivering a brand new and joyful shopping experience.

In Vietnam, the shopping season spikes from November to January (before Lunar New Year), with 11.11 and 12.12 being the two biggest campaigns. In order to drive growth, unlock brand collaborations, and deliver impactful content, we want to nurture more showcase creators to livestream during the 12.12 campaign.

02 Key challenge

妙搭生成

TikTok Shop (TTS) wants you to develop a business strategy and operation plan to build one potential creator to deliver a livestream showcase with scale at USD 1 million GMV in a single 12.12 campaign day (12th of December). It is noticed that our investment rate for these creators has been high so we expect you to focus on improving strategy and operations to deliver the target rather than using aggressive subsidy.

Successfully executing this strategy establishes a battle-tested playbook for high-GMV livestream creator development that can be replicated across the region, turning one market's breakthrough into a scalable regional capability.

You should address these questions:

1. Who should TTS prioritize to grow among our potential emerging creator pool? What are the rationales for prioritization?
2. What are key factors impacting the livestream performance of the selected creator?
3. Based on identified factors, what are specific actions your team will take to ensure the selected creator can deliver the target of USD 1 million GMV livestream on 12.12?

   > Please specify details, including but not limited to what kind of categories, products, or brands the creator should sell, how to acquire traffic during the livestream, how to improve sales conversions, etc.

4. How will you plan your actions from now till the livestream date with a clear timeline and risk controls?

Within Creator Management, we have several steps to prepare for big-scale livestream sessions:

1. Align with creator on the schedule and duration of the livestream and key operations such as studio, facility, and labour on the livestream day
2. Consult creators on which products to put in the livestream and support them to coordinate with brands and sellers to get deals
3. Consult creators on the content direction and plan to acquire sufficient traffic in the livestream session
4. Coordinate resources within TTS such as media support, branding activities, vouchers, etc.
